MERCHANT TAILORS.

HOME THOUGHTS.

There! That comes from sending East for your Clothes. One of these eastern Tailors took my measure for a fashionable pair of Pants, and, this is what he sends me.

I wonder if that is the style for fat men in the East.

I could have gone to GILMORE & MCCANDLESS right here in town and got a pair to fit me a darned sight better than these would if I starved myself for a year. This will teach me a lesson to buy my goods at home and get more satisfaction.

THE COLLIERY DISASTER.

The latest estimate places the number of killed at about 100. Seventy of these were married and leave families, altogether 19 bodies have been recovered.

It is now definitely learned that eighty-eight miners have perished in the Morea mine disaster.

LIKENED TO JUDAS.

Dublin, March 13.—Freeman's Journal commenting on last Tuesday night's debate in the House of Commons, bears down heavily on the government by Mr. Chamberlain. It says: "Joseph played the part of Judas to perfection."

BOULANGER IN LONDON.

London, March 13.—Ex-Senator Noquette, lately elected to the Chamber of Deputies, after his first election was declared void, has arrived here from Paris to meet General Boulanger, who has returned from St. Helliere and remains here for the season.

OBITUARY.

Vienna, March 13.—Frank Heine, the celebrated fresco painter of Bohemia, is dead.

Paris, March 13.—Madame Laboulanger, wife of Senator Laboulanger, well-known in America, and who accompanied him in his travels to the United States, died yesterday.

INFLUENZA—RUSSELL STOPS.

London, March 13—It is reported that influenza is raging in Siberia with a daily average of 70 deaths. Several members of the State family are seriously ill.

The Pope proposes to appoint a metropolitan of four suffragan bishops in Japan, if the Japanese government consents.

THE DOCTOR WON.

London, March 13—The case of Hammond, a servant of Lady Robinson, who sued Dr. Sherman for damages, on account of wrong treatment for a double rupture, was heard in the County Court of Westminster this morning. The doctor had already returned to the plaintiff a fee of twenty guineas received from her. The jury brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Berlin, March 13—On the celebration last Monday of the Czar's birthday, Emperor William sent a dispatch of congratulation, and the German ambassador at St. Petersburg presented to the Czar a portrait of the Emperor in the uniform of the Russian guards as worn at a review during the Emperor's visit to St. Petersburg.

THE CAPITAL.

Mr. Mills Moves a Want of Confidence Motion.

Special to TIMES.

Ottawa, March 13.—In the House this afternoon, on going into supply, Mr. Mills moved a want of confidence motion for the government expending public moneys in constituencies which were represented by their followers, thus distributing public revenue as if the government were only trustees of the Conservative party instead of trustees of the whole people. He cited postoffices, customs offices and other public works which were built for political advantages and not for the benefit of the whole country and held that such moneys ought to be distributed as public demands required. The debate is now going on.

CANADIANS WILL BE FIRM.

The London Telegraph Predicts Bloodshed Over Behring Sea.

London, March 13.—The Telegraph points out that congratulations concerning a reported agreement between Sir Julian Pauncefaute and the United States regarding the Behring Sea difficulty are altogether premature. "Canadians," it says, "will never agree to any practical monopoly of these waters by the United States." The paper predicts that bloodshed will be the result of the latter's powers and an endeavor to enforce its claims.

THE PRINCETON TRAGEDY.

The Plot to Murder—Man and Wife Found Guilty.

Woodstock, Ont., March 12—The inquest on the body of F. C. Beswell, the young Englishman who was murdered, was concluded at Princeton on Saturday night. The jury found that the shots were fired by Reginald Burchell, alias Somersett, with deliberate purpose, wilfully and feloniously to commit murder; and further that Caroline Burchell, wife of said Reginald Burchell, was accessory to the murder.

BEHRING SEA DISPUTE.

The Question of Seized British Sealers Considered.

Ottawa, March 13.—The official correspondence between Great Britain, the United States and Canadian governments shows the question of a closed sea will not enter into the negotiations now going on at Washington on the Behring Sea difficulty. From information received from the British minister and minister Tupper at Washington, the question of adjudicating the claims for damages on the part of owners of British sealers, seized in Behring Sea by United States cruisers, has mainly occupied the attention of the conference. The question of protecting by some international arrangement, the seal fisheries from absolute depletion, irrespective of any claim of the United States to exclusive jurisdiction, has been only informally considered.

ANOTHER PHASE.

New York, March 13.—The New England fishermen have withdrawn their pressure upon the state department for new regulations to govern the Newfoundland fisheries, as well as for the re-establishment of the modus vivendi, and the settlement of the Behring Sea controversy is now regarded in diplomatic circles as a very easy matter.

AFTER THE CANNERIES.

An English Syndicate Bidding for Columbia River Canneries.

New York, March 13.—The Herald's Pittsburg correspondent says: "I hear an English syndicate is trying to buy all the salmon industries on the Columbia river." A Pittsburger engaged in the canned goods business, who had just returned from Oregon, said to-day: "J. W. Alderman who represents the English syndicate, is in Astoria trying to negotiate with canners. He has asked for a definite statement and valuation of the property. The transfer is to include buildings, plant and real estate. I am informed he has ninety days option on every cannery except three, and I believe it as good as settled."

AMERICAN NEWS.

A CYCLONE AT PLAY.

Fort Smith, Ark., March 13—The village of Excelsior, 15 miles from here, was struck by a cyclone yesterday, and every building in the place was demolished, but no lives were lost. Many were seriously injured. A mother and three children were blown 60 feet and badly hurt.

FINANCIAL.

Boston, March 13.—The Bell Telephone Co. has declared a dividend of $3 per share payable on April 15th to the stockholders.

London, March 13.—The Bank of England discount is reduced to 4 per cent.

TERRIBLE PUNISHMENT.

Pierre, South Dakota, March 13.—Summary and terrible punishment was meted out to "Dirty Fool," a Sioux buck, who attempted murder yesterday at a camp on Bad river. "Dirty Fool" got possession of some whisky at Fort Pierre, and arriving in camp got drunk, went to the tepee occupied by a squaw known as "Fedesl," picked up an axe, struck her on the forehead, cracking her skull. A crowd gathered, and "Dirty Fool" was caught, tied to a stake over a fire in the centre of the tepee and when he tried to escape was thrown back till burned to a crisp.

LIFE ON THE RAIL.

Chicago, March 13.—A passenger train on the Rock Island road collided with a freight at Blue Island suburb last night, and the passenger engine and three freight cars were demolished. John Berry, a brakeman, was killed. The conductor, whose name is unknown, was severely injured. The passengers were badly shaken up.

OFFICIALS ARRESTED.

New York, March 13—Warden Keaning and Deputy Sheriff McGonigal of Ludlow street jail, were arrested to-day on an indictment for bribery. This afternoon they were brought before Judge Fitzgerald in the court of General Sessions, when both through their counsel pleaded "not guilty." Bail was fixed at $10,000 on each indictment.

TAULBEE'S WOUND.

Washington, March 13.—An autopsy on the body of Congressman Taulbee by Dr. Lamb, assisted by Surgeon-General Hamilton, Dr. Bayne and Dr. Frederick Ball, they found wedged in the orbital cavity directly at the base of the brain and about two inches from the spot where it entered, the bullet, which was smashed into a shapeless piece of lead and so firmly imbedded that it could not be extracted while Taulbee lived. The doctors found the immediate cause of death to be the formation of an abscess about the size of a walnut at the base of the brain. The brain was not injured by the ball, but was much congested and the bones at the base were slightly shattered. He could not have lived under any circumstances, and they expressed themselves surprised that he survived such a length of time.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

Randolph Criticised by His Supporters—Goschen's Speech.

London, March 12—Mr. Goschen said that Lecaron was employed in the secret service under a Liberal government. Mr. Henry H. Fowler, the member for Wolverhampton, who was related to the political secretary for the treasury at that time, angrily retorted that no one knew better than Mr. Goschen himself that he (Mr. Goschen) could know absolutely nothing of such matters. The words and manner of Mr. Fowler created intense excitement. The debate continued at length. Mr. Chaplin declared that the Conservatives had never believed the letters to be genuine, (shouts of "no" and laughter), but the charges that had been proved had amply justified the appointment of the commission. Mr. Labouchere and others followed. Mr. Goschen protested against the attacks made upon Attorney-General Webster, who, Mr. Gladstone had admitted, could not have done otherwise than he did. Mr. Goschen repudiated Lord Randolph Churchill's statement that the government had acted unconstitutionally, and eulogized the impartiality of the judges. Here there was great disorder on the Parnellites, with repeated shouts of "Pigott, Pigott." Mr. Goschen: "Yes, the more you examine the report the less you are inclined to hear of the impartiality of the judges." Continuous interruptions followed, and there was loud opposition laughter at Mr. Goschen's admission that the government might have been indiscreet, but had never adopted forgeries, as the political stock in trade. Mr. Goschen continuing referred contemptuously to Mr. Sexton's reference to Lord Salisbury and the Lecaron letter. Mr. Sexton sprang to his feet, and he and Mr. Goschen, after glaring at one another for a few seconds, bandied epithets, of which the term "Coward" was one of the mildest, the uproar being increased by shouts of "adjourn," etc. When order had been somewhat restored, Mr. Caine moved his amendment. Mr. Smith at once demanded the Closure rule, and a vote was taken on the amendment.

Despite the sneers and contemptuous reference to Lord Randolph's attack upon the government last night, there is abundant evidence that the Tories were hit hard and still feel the effects of the shafts of the Tory democratic leader. The comparatively small majority by which Mr. Caine's motion was rejected is another source of annoyance; and although the ministerialists are in an unhappy frame of mind in the contemplation of the undeniable fact that they have lost ground. In view of this state of affairs the ministry is already casting about for some means of recovering the popularity which the party has forfeited by its course since the opening of the session, and it is stated that the government will attempt to achieve that end by bringing in a bill placing tea and coffee on the free list. Although the government's course has greatly increased the chances of the Liberals in many constituencies hitherto controlled by Conservatives, the effect of Lord Randolph Churchill's speech in the Tory stronghold represented by him has been like a boomerang. To say that Lord Randolph's constituents are furious over his last night's performance, is putting it mildly. Scarcely one can be found among them who does not condemn his utterances in the most vigorous English at his command, and already the suggestion is rife to hold a mass meeting to denounce him, though the political managers will hardly permit so extreme a course.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

The University Bill Read a Second Time—Some Warm Debating.

This Afternoon's Proceedings—Reports, Bills and Returns Presented.

WEDNESDAY, March 12.

AGRICULTURE.

Mr. Cunningham introduced a bill for the encouragement of agriculture and horticulture. Read a first time.

WATER RECORDS.

Mr. Semlin moved that an order of this House be granted for a return of all water records between Harrison river and Sicamous. The mover explained that the return was only in reference to water for irrigating purposes.

The leader of the government expressed regret that the chief commissioner of lands and works was also absent from his seat. He thought the returns would be made with difficulty. Resolution passed.

A DISGRACEFUL TEACHER.

Hon. Mr. Beaven asked the Hon. Provincial Secretary the following question: Have you, or any officer of the department over which you preside, or its branch the Education office, any knowledge of the facts referred to in the following letter, published in the Colonist newspaper on 28th February, 1890, in respect to the conduct of public school teachers:

WANTS TO KNOW

TO THE EDITOR.—Can you inform me which one of your public teachers was it that is said to have disgraced himself at the Panorama on Saturday evening last, by making himself conspicuous, as I hear, in creating repeated disturbances amongst the audience, thus setting forth anything but a laudable example to the many school children present.

ENQUIRER.

Mr. Robson—No, I know nothing about the matter; nor am I aware whether the officers in the department have any knowledge of the facts referred to. The department has more important duties to fulfil than that of taking cognizance of anonymous scandal mongers.

MUNICIPAL.

Mr. Beaven moved on the further consideration of the report on bill (No. 2) intituled "An Act to amend the 'Municipal Act, 1889,'" the following amendments:

Sub-section (20) of section 98 of the "Municipal Act, 1889," is hereby amended by inserting in line one, after the word "office," the words "to be," and by inserting the words "a ground or block plan of such building with" between the word "building" in the second line and the word "the" in the third line from the top of said sub-section.

Sub-section (98) of section 96 of the "Municipal Act, 1889," is hereby amended by striking out in the first line the words "making, preserving, improving, repairing," and by striking out in the second line the word "altering."

The mover explained that in some cities it was necessary to obtain a permit before proceeding with a building. He did not propose to go so far, but merely to require that a ground plan of the building should be deposited with the corporation.

Amendment read a second time.

Mr. Beaven also proposed to amend section 96 of the "Municipal Act, 1889," by inserting the following:

To make, preserve, improve, maintain, alter, level, raise or lower streets, or bridges, or sidewalks to a general grade and no person whose real property has been or may be injuriously affected by reason of any street, or bridge, or sidewalk having been levelled, raised, or lowered, shall be entitled to any compensation or damages therefore, notwithstanding any law to the contrary.

"The council of any municipality may pass one general by-law annually, which shall apply to all the streets, bridges, and sidewalks within the municipality, for any of the purposes coming within this sub-section."

Hon. Mr. Turner opposed the amendment holding that if a street were cut down in front of a man's property injuring that property, the public should pay for it because it was the public who were benefitted by the improvement to the street.

Mr. Haslam—If the city can cut six feet deep alongside of a lot they can cut 60 feet and thus ruin the lot.

Hon. Mr. Robson—There are two extremes to this matter, if we could hit on a happy medium it would be a fortunate thing. Now in the case of a man who proposed to erect a valuable building and who took proper precautions to obtain the street grade, I consider it would be a great injustice if the city were allowed to change the grade and deteriorate the property without giving compensation.

Hon. Mr. Beaven.—Oh, no, the grade cannot be changed.

Hon. Mr. Robson—I think it can, and I hold that the public should pay for any advantage it receives in cutting down a street.

Mayor Grant said a street improved in front of a man's property improved that property. There was no intention to alter old grades. The improvement to a street was sometimes made by raising the roadway and sidewalk. In Vancouver, for instance, the sidewalk was in some places many feet above the lot. A certain grade was established and the owners of the lots did not ask for compensation. If the present state of affairs was maintained it would stop improvement; nothing would be done till the parties asked for it. On the American side they made those improvements and then assessed for them.

Hon. Mr. Robson—That is "the land of the free."

Mr. Grant—I suppose the honorable gentleman insinuates that he is at the head of the government in a country which is not "free."

Hon Mr. Robson—Oh no—

Mr. Grant proceeding, pointed out that the amendment would work hardship in some cases, but he would ask where the law was that would not affect some one injuriously? He could at that moment cite half a dozen such cases, and yet it was very hard to find a remedy and preserve a generally useful law.

The Attorney-General would not be guilty of supporting such an amendment as this. It was said that the improvement would be for the public good, and who was to say what was the public good? The city aldermen!

Mr. Grant—The same principle as is followed in parliament.

The Attorney-General, proceeding, referred to the city aldermen as "irresponsible persons" and went into a general criticism of municipal expenditure on Beacon Hill, etc.

Mr. Semlin—I do not understand the honorable gentleman's objections. The same principle is incorporated throughout the provisions of the honorable gentleman's railway bill, which he has introduced and so strongly advocated the passage of through this House.

Hon Mr. Davie—Will the honorable gentleman kindly show us where the cases are parallel?

Mr. Semlin—If the honorable gentleman had preserved himself in patience I would have shown him what he desires to know. I would have shown him that it makes a great deal of difference whose ox is gored. He was very anxious that the Railway Bill should have the provisions which he now refuses to the city corporations. The railway corporation might cut their way through a man's farm and what compensation did it offer him? He (the farmer) was informed that he had compensation by reason of the presence of the railway, a similar principle to that contained in this bill.

On a show of hands being taken the amendment was defeated.

THE UNIVERSITY.

Mr. Duck moved the second reading of the University Bill. In doing so he explained that it was not the intention to ask for an appropriation now, although he hoped the day would soon arrive when the government would see their way clear to do so. He believed every other province had an institution of this kind, even the young province of Manitoba having had one in operation for a number or years. He explained that in some countries universities were supported by the state and others by the bequests of wealthy people. It might be said that our schools were sufficient for all the purposes of education, but he contended that we should never rest till a university had been obtained for this province. There were many young men and women in this province ready for matriculation, who were anxious to obtain a university education. That could not be obtained without leaving this province and at a time of life when the influences of home life were most essential to them. What was more being removed from their native province at such a time of life, their affections were naturally alienated to a certain extent from it besides the expense of sending and maintaining them abroad was an important consideration. He hoped all honorable gentlemen would unite with him and the public spirited citizens who had taken hold of this matter, to obtain a greatly felt want and something which would have an important bearing on the future of this province.

Bill read a second time and passed through committee.

ADVANCED A STAGE.

The Columbia and Carbonate Railway Bill was reported from committee complete with amendments.

The Okanagan and Kootenay Railway Bill was reported from committee.

The Ashcroft and Cariboo Railway bill was read a third time and passed.

GOLD GRAVEL SYNDICATE.

The order for the second reading of this bill was discharged and the bill referred back to the private bills committee to report.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Mr. Anderson moved the second reading of the London Canadian Insurance Company. The honorable mover said there was only one of the gentlemen asking incorporation who resided in the province although the others were largely interested in the city and province.

Hon. Mr. Beaven drew attention to the absence of proper security. He was surprised the private bills committee did not look after these matters.

Mr. Martin—We did. We examined the British Columbia Fire Insurance Act and found they had deposited no security.

Mr. Beaven—That is a mutual company.

The Attorney-General—That does not make any difference. But that is not the question. I believe that proper security should be guaranteed and cannot support the second reading of the bill.

Mr. Anderson did not believe the company would object to furnishing any security that was required.

Debate adjourned.

RETURNS.

The Provincial Secretary brought down returns in respect to 45,000 acres of Dominion land at Mutsqui.

NANAIMO TELEPHONE.

Mr. Thomson moved the second reading of the Nanaimo Telephone Incorporation Bill. The company had put up lines in Nanaimo and merely asked for the privilege of extending them through the surrounding districts.

Hon. Mr. Beaven was not going to oppose the bill but thought it should be limited to something. At present it asked for a charter, not only for the whole of Vancouver Island, but for the islands adjacent thereto.

Mr. Haslam said he understood the company intended to extend their lines to Gabriola island and other adjacent islands.

Bill was read a second time and underwent amendments in committee. Committee reported progress.

House adjourned at 5:45 till 2 p. m. on Thursday.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

By Mr. Smith—To move that a respectful address be presented to the Lieut. Governor, praying that an additional polling place be established in the electoral district of Lillooet, viz.; at or near the house of E. M. Adams on the North Thompson river.

THURSDAY, March 13.

Mr. Speaker took the chair at 2 p. m. Prayer by the Venerable Archdeacon Scriven.

REPORTS.

The private bills committee reported recommending the exclusive right to mine a certain claim at Yale to be granted to Gold, Gravel Mining Syndicate for a term of 30 years in consideration of $200 a year paid annually into the treasury.

ASSESSMENT ACT.

Mr. Duck introduced a bill to amend the Assessment Act. Read a first time.

NEW POLLING PLACE.

Mr. Martin moved an address praying for an additional polling place at Tappen's Siding, a station on the C. P. R. to the east of Shuswap in Yale.

Mr. Semlin congratulated the honorable gentleman on having brought this matter up in a "proper manner." Some seven or eight years ago he had introduced a similar resolution on this subject, and was glad to say he had had the support of his honorable colleague, but the government informed him on that occasion that he had not taken the proper course; he should have come down and quietly interviewed the members of the government in their offices and had the matter attended to that way. He believed that his colleague, acting on these suggestions, had sought the government quietly in their offices. Two or three years ago he also moved a similar resolution in regard to the establishment of a polling place at Grand Prairie, and again he was lectured by the government for not having brought the matter to the attention of the government in a "proper manner." He congratulated his colleague on having adopted a "proper manner" and the government on the evidence that they had really learned something during the last eight years. (Laughter.)

ELECTION REGULATION.

Mr. Beaven introduced a bill to amend the 'Election Regulation Act' (51 Vic.) chap. 22, Vol. 1, Consolidated Acts, 1888, and the 'Election Regulation Amendment Act, 1889.' Read a first time.

HOMESTEAD LAW.

Mr. Smith moved the second reading of the reconstructed Homestead Bill. Bill read a second time and passed through committee.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

THE ORGAN AND ITS MASTER.

The Colonist complains bitterly this morning of its treatment by the News and the TIMES, and again it declares its independence of the Attorney-General. The Colonist should be more careful. The Attorney-General's position was untenable from the start, and why should the Colonist have undertaken to defend him, if it is a free agent? The Attorney-General had an opportunity to gracefully "crayfish" on the clause when it was first introduced to the House. So soon as the objections to the clause were pointed out, had he been a discreet man, he would have attempted no defence of the measure, and would have withdrawn it for further consideration. This, however, he lacked the discretion to do. This was a stroke of legislative genius beyond the scope of his opaque comprehension, and the Colonist, whether from chivalrous sentiment or whether from pressure, must needs undertake to uphold him. No politician of average common sense will demand of his organ a fealty beyond the point which can neither command the respect or the sympathy of the public, nor should an organ permit itself to become the buffer for the man whose indiscretion, obstinacy and evident moral and mental bias, lead him into perpetrations which no amount of special pleading and whitewash can cover up.

AS MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED.

The S. F. Examiner, in discussing the new steamer line which presumably will operate between Tacoma and the Orient, is brutally frank. "This proposed line," says the Examiner, "is an admirable thing from a patriotic point of view as an offset to the subsidized ships of the Canadian Pacific, but what about the interests of San Francisco?"

This is just about the kind of a squeal that might have been expected. It is the squeal of the pocket. "We like to see Tacoma prospering," continues the Examiner, "but not at our expense." This is human nature and under the circumstances the only argument available. "We trust," concludes the Examiner, "that the new steamship line, if established, will contrive to get along without cutting down the San Francisco service. That service has already been reduced for the benefit of the Panama line, but we did not grumble at that, because what we lost in one direction we made up in another. But there is no compensation for the transfer of part of our trade to Tacoma. It might almost as well go to Vancouver."

SATAN REBUKING SIN.

As to the special merits of the amendment to the Municipal Act, we know nothing; nor does it matter much, now, what they are, since the measure was defeated. If, however, the principle of the amendment, as was stated by Mr. SEMLIN, corresponds with section nine of the Railway Act, the Attorney-General's opposition to it affords another instance of "Satan rebuking sin." Rising in opposition to the amendment was the Attorney-General's opportunity to uncork the vials of his long pent up wrath, on the mal-administration of municipal affairs, and, in his perfervid but somewhat incoherent utterances, the inherent mossbackism of the man was as palpable as the fungus growth on the trees of Stanley Park. Mr. SEMLIN could not stand it. He was opposed to the amendment himself, but he did not relish the idea of the Attorney-General posing before the House as the champion of the widow and orphan, and the masses generally, when "scarcely a week had passed since on the floor of the House he had advocated a measure which could neither be defended or palliated. Mr. SEMLIN, therefore, pointed out the inconsistency of the legal gentleman's attitude, and needless to say, the House appreciated his points. The Attorney-General certainly knows how to play his cards in his local interests. When next he appears before the people for their suffrages, he will point out in all that glowing ambignity of his, how he opposed the rapacity of Victoria's aldermen, how he saved the owners of town lots from being damaged without compensation by the too free exercise of the municipal prerogative of "eminent domain." What an everlasting farce these politics are! Wherefore should not the tribe of pessimists increase?

STANLEY STAINED WITH BLOOD.

At a late meeting of the "London, Eng., corporation," a motion was made to give STANLEY an official reception. It was vehemently opposed, however, by one man, who insisted that STANLEY deserved no credit but rather condemnation for his course in his expedition for the relief of EMIN PASHA. "He had," the opposer of the resolution declared, "in no respect benefitted civilization. He had undertaken the journey solely for the purpose of securing ivory for an English mercantile company, and in doing this had whitened the forests with the skeletons of his companions, had summarily executed all who opposed his projects, and exposed to frightful dangers the human beings who followed him." "Mr. STANLEY," he said, "made any geographical discoveries it was by mere chance and not through any desire to benefit science or humanity. He had invariably disregarded the rights of the native Africans, and treated them with the greatest cruelty. He blushed for the name of an African explorer, STANLEY was a man of blood." Instituting comparisons, the tender-hearted member of the London corporation pointed to MUNGO PARK, who passed through innumerable dangers in Africa and who shed no blood. Neither did LIVINGSTONE, nor SPEKE, BURTON, Sir SAMUEL BAKER, CHAILLU, and many French and German explorers. STANLEY had done much to relieve the darkness which for many years lay over Africa, but in doing this he had supplanted the darkness with a "vivid red." This ensanguined picture has some truth in it, but taken in its entirety it seems to be the morbid utterances of a super-sensitive philanthropist. We can imagine him subscribing cheerfully to a resolution of censure, surveying the while with cold indifference the sufferings of the London poor. STANLEY has a mission to perform in Africa and he performed it regardless of the prejudices of dwarfs, and without stopping to consult the predilections of traitors in his own camp. People familiar with the habits of the North American Indian will have no difficulty in appreciating the difficulties of STANLEY'S position. With all due respect for LIVINGSTONE, we are bound to say that posterity will not award him the highest place as an explorer, while as for the other explorers named by the squeamish member of the London corporation, they too will pass into history, not as African explorers, but as fairly adventurous hunters. We can imagine that during the period of their hunting tours on the outskirts of the dark continent, that in comparison to STANLEY in the African mind, they stand in about the same relation as explorers as do the predatory dudes to the British Columbia "old timer," who invade his domain with double barrelled shot guns and bottles of whisky in quest of winged game, you know. But nothing succeeds like success. STANLEY has succeeded, and by the only method he could have succeeded, to wit, force. "Away with them to Gon," said he of the traitors in his camp, and what man rioting in peace and plenty and under the protection of the London police shall say that he did not do just right. The dwarfs attempted to stay his progress, and would have slaughtered him and his command, and he swept them away as chaff. Shall an apoplectic alderman set himself up as a censor in cases of this kind? STANLEY started out to relieve EMIN peaceably if he could, forcibly if he must. He had to use force. People admire force, particularly Englishmen. We may suppose that the objections of the member of the London corporation were over-ruled.

"PRIGS AND PRUDES VS. THE PRESS."

The Oregonian discussing "Prigs and Prudes vs. the Press," in relation to some prominent American politicians, who have been denouncing the press by reason of having been handled without gloves, is not one whit less incisive than is usual with it in its treatment of such matters, and it also tells some palpable truths. We quote:

As the faithful chronicler of passing events the journalist must report both the bad and the good, but he is bound editorially not to confuse and disregard the distinction between right and wrong; that is between the eternal verities and the eternal fallacies and depravities. What sort of information is proper for publication and what is improper is well understood by all newspapers of any potential influence or consequence and is generally sharply drawn. The "vulgar press of society" have a place in a newspaper as genuine as they have in the immortal literature of the world; its drama and its fiction. No great newspaper could ever be a tea-table organ or a Sunday school book without being utterly false to its function. Any other rule would make a newspaper as false and half faced a mirror of human nature as Shakespeare would be without any shapes but moral heroes for men; any portraits of women save the "unco guid."

A tea-table newspaper is like Don Quixote without Sancho Panza; like Massinger's "New Way to Pay Old Debts," without Sir Giles Overreach. The vast majority of the leading newspapers of the country are invariably true to the cause of good morals, pure politics, upright and enlightened federal, state and local government than the preachers, the politicians and the lawyers who periodically denounce or deride them. The grossest whitewashing obituary of a rich man of detestable private or public life is always heard from the pulpit or expressed in the mortuary resolutions of the bar association. The influential newspaper is generally ahead of aggressive public sentiment in its devotion to all that makes for peace, order, clean courts of justice and upright government; it is always at least abreast of it. Judge Thayer, of the Supreme Court, at the recent banquet, expressed his contempt for the press. The press, remembering the legal robberies made possible by the skill of great lawyers, may fairly answer ironically, as did Iago when called a villain, "You are—a senator."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is no doubt some truth in the report that a salmon trust is endeavoring to get control of the canneries on the coast. The parties engaged in it, however, are persons of very little standing in the commercial world, and it is not believed that they will be able to carry the scheme out.

Soldiering must be disagreeable work in the United States. The strength of the standing army of that country is 20,145, and official statistics show that, in the ten years ended July 1st last, there were no less than 22,414 desertions. There was in the same time 1,705 deaths and 7,269 discharges for disability. This state of affairs calls to mind the Irishman's breeches, which had been so often patched that at last none of the original material was left.

HON. Mr. BEAVER has been urging the Government against further procrastination on the redistribution question. The session is now half over and no bill has yet been presented to the House. When the estimates are passed, the work of the session will be practically ended, and the Government will be in a position to snap their fingers at the members for Cariboo and Yale and their equally subservient following from Vancouver's Island. Such an important measure as an amendment to the Constitution Act cannot be disposed of in a day or two. It should be presented now in order that the House and country may have time to consider its import and effect, and so be in a position to answer or reject it.

Russia's ambitious railway projects have drawn attention to the great material progress she has made in the last quarter of a century. Between 1860 and 1885 her railway mileage increased from 500 to 19,000 miles; her factories, of which there were 18,000 in 1860, had increased to 25,000 in 1885, while the product of these—250,000,000 roubles in 1860—had doubled in the same period. Proportionately, as regards time, the increase in all these interests has been enormously greater in the past five years.

The fifth bye-election in the last fortnight has resulted in the return of a Tory for a Tory seat, but by a reduction in the majority of seventy-five per cent. In the face of the great Tory defeats of the last forthight it is a victory, but what a victory! Lincolnshire is one of the most Conservative counties in England, and for forty years has been strongly Tory, at the last general election, in the proportion of 3 to 1. At Stamford, one of the divisions of Lincolnshire, there was no contest in 1886, the Tory, Mr. LAWRENCE, being unopposed, but at the previous election when there was a contest, the Liberal was defeated by 1,101 votes. On Saturday the Liberal was defeated by 282 votes, showing that the feeling in the county has changed in a most remarkable manner. In the Spalding division of Lincolnshire Mr. HALLE STEWART won the first great victory for the Gladstonians since the general elections, and replaced a Tory in a purely agricultural quarter. But the number of voters who changed sides in the Spalding election was not so great as the number that has changed in the Stamford election of Saturday, though in the case of Spalding the Gladstonians won two seats on a division, and on Saturday they reduced the Tory majority by 519 votes, but still did not succeed in winning the seat. The moral effect, however, must be very great, and must make the Tories tremulous and frightened.

ASSEMBLY NOTES.

If ever a man was made to appear silly, it was the Attorney-General in the House yesterday afternoon. After declaiming for half an hour in a loud voice—one might almost say, bellowing—against the Victoria city council and a proposed amendment to the Municipal Act, Mr. SEMLIN flattened the honorable gentleman out in about ten seconds, by showing the House that the amendment contained exactly the same principle as that which ran through the whole of the Railway Bill introduced by the Attorney-General. What did the honorable THEODORE say to that? What could he say? He was simply squelched.

REDISTRIBUTION QUESTION.

Inexplicable Silence of Newspapers—Plenty of Bones, Plenty of Dogs.

The Premier of the province says that when the redistribution bill is brought down it will meet with the approval of the country. Let us hope so says the New Westminster Truth. But if he is so sure of it, why don't he trot the thing out? The country is just aching for something to approve in that direction. It has been learned that it will not be brought down till after the "budget" and all other important legislation has been passed. Is the government really afraid that the bill will create such disapproval that they will be unable to pass the estimates or any important measure after their hand in this matter is shown? That much has been hinted. But with regard to the inexplicable attitude of the papers there are other views. One is that there being a great deal of doubt as to what will be the result of the elections this fall, the newspapers, including the Vancouver morning one, are trimming their sails to tack whatever way the most favorable breeze blows. Of course, humanly speaking, all this is not to be wondered at, but it serves to show how slight is the tenure of the following of even such great men as the Attorney-General and the Premier. Plenty of bones, plenty of dogs; no bones, no dogs. Such would appear to be the spirit animating the great men's following. Alas, and is that all? Are the sublime heights of office reached and maintained only by bones?

Six Years' Suffering.

I was troubled with dyspepsia for six years. Four years ago I got a bottle of B. B. B. from your agent, Mr. John Pearce, of Party Harbor, which I considered completely cured me. A return of the symptoms about five weeks ago, however, was promptly removed by using only part of another bottle, and I feel as well as ever I did in my life. MARY E. DOWLING, Parry Harbor, Ont.

Ald. Harrison thought that even if permission was not granted the board need not object to the line being put in for a few yards.

Ald. Wilson was against allowing the lines to enter the park.

After some further discussion it was decided to inform the railway company that no permission to enter the park could be given.

From C. E. Redfern complaining of the conduct of the librarian, which was described as churlish and unobliging. Referred to library committee.

From Superintendent Sheppard as follows:

Victoria, B. C., 12th March, 1890.

To His Worship the Mayor and Police Committee:

Gentlemen,—Upon making enquiry concerning a lady being injured on Government street on Wednesday last, I find that a young man who stands bar in the Nickel Plate Saloon was looking through a broken pane of glass in the front door; he called out to a man standing on the sidewalk "Peek a Boo." This man, whose name is James Norris, stand ing on the sidewalk, called back to the bar tender "Peek a Boo." Just at this time a lady dres in deep mourning passed along.

James Norris was summon 1 a few days since for vagrancy, and I am happy to state that he has left the city.

Neither of the above men ever held a license for driving a hack.

I have the honor to remain,
Gentlemen, your obedient servant,
HENRY W. SHEPPARD,
Supt. of Police.

The report was received and filed.

A DISCREPANCY.

The city surveyor's report on the cost of repairing the streets where torn up by the street railway company came up, and it was shown that it was estimated that $120 would do the work.

Ald. Harrison said that his personal report of the cost would show that the cost would be $1140, or $1020 more than the city surveyor's.

On motion the city surveyor and street foreman Matthews were ordered to see the street repairs made at once.

BY LAWS.

Leave was granted to introduce a by-law to deal with the expenditure of the revenue of 1890.

CONDITION OF CATTLE.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir—I see a report in your daily issue of March 3rd, in which it states I turned out 2,000 head of cattle to drift for themselves, and also offered half of the 2,000 head to anyone to "winter-feed them." I beg to state that it is a false statement and an erroneous mistake. I wish you to correct the statement, as I can winter all my cattle through, and my loss is comparatively nothing. The reports from Nicola are greatly exaggerated. The Douglas Lake Cattle Company and the Upper Nicola have fared well, as the loss is comparatively nothing as far as I have heard. Lower Nicola is suffering to a certain extent on account of the grasshopper plague of last summer.

WILLIAM PALMER.

Nicola Valley, March 10.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—In your up country news notes, weekly edition of March 7th, under heading "Loss of Cattle," so far as Bonaparte Valley is concerned, you are misinformed. You are made to say there are about 1100 head of cattle in the valley, and that one-third or one half will perish. There are over two thousand head of cattle on the Bonaparte, and the losses up to the present date are not two per cent. These losses include natural causes and accidents. The cattle went into the winter fat, there being plenty of mountain feed, and all our ranchers in the valley were well supplied with hay. From New Year's till 1st March we had an extra cold winter. During last week we had a chinook, and the flats are now clear of snow, and all danger of heavy losses are over.

THOS. MORGAN.
M. VERSEY.

Nanaimo Presbyterians.

A congregational meeting was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Nanaimo, on Monday evening to select a minister in place of the late pastor, Rev. Jas. Hillar. The Rev. P. McF. McLeod, of Victoria, acted as Moderator, and Mr. A. Shaw as Clerk of the meeting. Before proceeding to nominate candidates the reverend gentleman said he had much pleasure in notifying the congregation that their application to be received into the Columbian Presbytery had been warmly accepted. The Nanaimo Presbyterian Church had been the last to sever its connection with the Church of Scotland, and the Columbian Presbytery would do everything in its power to forward the spiritual and temporal interests of its new charge. Candidates were then called for, and after ample time had been allowed, during which two candidates were proposed and seconded, viz.: the Rev. Mr. Chisholm of Kamloops, and the Rev. Mr. Fraser of Comox. After counting the votes twice it was found that each candidate was equally supported, and on motion of Mr. Shaw, the meeting was adjourned sine die, the Rev. P. McF. McLeod having undertaken to supply the pulpit in the meantime.

FROM THE NORTH.

The "Grippe" at New Metlakahtla—Earthquake Shock—Personals.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder arrived at Port Townsend yesterday, after a stormy trip, in which much snow and bad weather prevailed.

Among the passengers were Mr. Perkins, manager of the Treadwell mine, and Mr. J. Barnhardt, of Hamburg, Germany, who represents the controlling interest in the Bear's Nest mine, which adjoins the Treadwell. Mr. Barnhardt intends to thoroughly prospect this property to a final and satisfactory conclusion, to see if there is a mine or not. The Treadwell mill of 240 stamps has not been working more than 30 to 40 stamps for the past two months, as the cold weather has cut off the water supply and business generally is stagnant.

At Mr. Duncan's mission, at New Metlakahtla, the epidemic of "La Grippe" has been severe among the Indians, numbers of them dying from its effects. Two rather severe shocks of earthquake had been experienced in February, but no damage ensued. A cannery is in course of construction at this place and will add to the material prosperity of it.

At Wrangel, an old Victorian, Bill Woodcock, is sick near unto death, but is well cared for by the inhabitants, although lacking medical aid.

Might be Better Paid.

A sorrowful quill driver of New Westminster writes a long letter to the paper bemoaning the smallness of the salary paid to office clerks, and harps on the fact that "ordinary laborers" get more pay. Perhaps if the bank and other clerks who consider themselves underpaid were to turn to their employers' account the wasted energy required to carry their heavy canes, a raise in payment would be the result.

Brace Up.

By the use of an elegant combination in which are united the nutriment of beef, the tonic powers of iron and the stimulating properties of wine. As a nutritive tonic in the treatment of impaired nutrition, impoverishment of the blood and all the forms of general debility it is of great value. Prepared and sold by E. C. Kellogg, druggist, corner Douglas and Yates streets.

An Ambulance Car.

An ambulance car will most likely soon be provided to run to the Jubilee Hospital. The tracks of the street railway will be extended into the hospital grounds, and the ambulance car can be towed behind one of the motor cars out to the buildings. The car will be specially constructed that it may run with the least possible amount of jar, and will be fitted with handy appliances to be used in the event of painful accidents.

Arrived To-Day.

Messrs. Gregg & Son, artist tailors, 62 Yates street, have received their first shipment of woollens for the spring and summer trade.

These goods were imported direct from the best manufacturers in Europe and an inspection will convince gentlemen who desire to wear fashionable fabrics that these were selected with excellent taste, good judgment and a thorough acquaintance with the needs of their customers.

Their stock is now so varied and extensive that every peculiar taste in line with good style can be satisfied. m11-3t

Mean Thieves.

The members of the Jubilee Hospital building committee who visited the grounds yesterday were surprised and indignant to find that most of the fencing had been torn down and carried off. It was reported to them that the theft had been committed by parties who were desirous of getting a cheap and dry variety of firewood. One of the members of the committee expressed in no uncertain style his opinion of a man who would rob a hospital, and wound up his remarks by suggesting that a special officer be placed on the grounds that the wood stealers might be brought to speedy justice.

A treat for pipe smokers is Kinney Bros. Olde Fashioned Cut Plug.

The Public Library.

Mr. McGregor has made his second donation to the public library in accordance with a proposition made to the city council by him when taking charge of the institution. Last autumn he donated a complete set of Appleton's Encyclopedia costing $100. While Appleton's was a most necessary and useful work, the donation, which has just been made, will more nearly meet the requirements of public taste. It consists of 200 volumes of well bound novels of the best class, costing some $120. Mr. McGregor certainly never lags in his effort to make the library complete in every particular and should have the support of all Victorians. To keep it abreast of the times a purchase of modern books, similar to the one just put in should be made.

Forcible Facts.

The testimony as to the merits of Burdock Blood Bitters is overwhelming and admits of no dispute. It is the best blood purifier extant. Its action on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels is perfect. It cures dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood, and billiousness, sick headache, and all skin diseases.

TUG BOAT MATTERS.

The Americans Take All the Cream of the Work.

At the present time the tow-boating business of British Columbia is rather flat, and this unsatisfactory state of affairs is largely due to the unfair and illegal tactics pursued by the American tugs, which openly violate, not only the laws of the United States, but those of the Dominion.

As the law stands at present, an American vessel cannot enter a British Columbian port unless she has come direct from an American port and her clearance papers to that effect duly signed by the U. S. customs authorities, showing such to be the case. But the American tugs enter Canadian ports without having come direct from a port of clearance in the U. S., and when the papers are presented to the Canadian customs everything is found in order, and this is how the game is worked:

The collector of the port of Port Townsend gives to the masters of the American tugs so desiring a quantity of clearance papers all made out and signed by him, complete in every respect, except that the Canadian port of destination and the date is left blank. Now, suppose that this tug boat, armed with these convenient clearance papers, leaves Seattle and goes out to Cape Flattery and runs across a ship which is bound for Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver or Westminster, all the master has to do is to fill out one of his stock of clearance papers with date and destination, and he enters the Canadian port he wishes without fear of the terrors of Canadian customs law.

It is to be hoped that the United States boats will soon be kept to the strict letter of the Canadian law, and then business will be better for British boats, as violations of the law are known to have occurred in the past. One great disadvantage the British Columbia tug boats work under is that Seattle, Tacoma, and all ports up Sound are subports of entry, and a Canadian tug can only enter Port Townsend with a ship, she must not go beyond. If the same rule applied on this side, much benefit would accrue to the tug boats of this and all other British Columbia ports, and then the owners would have an equal advantage and could then work and hold their own against the Americans.

Some change is certainly necessary, and the sooner it is made the better for British Columbia interests, as the picking up of tugboating here will mean the employment of many mechanics and the expenditure of great sums of money, all of which will tend to benefit the province.

THE MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE.

A Musical Event of Note at the Victoria Theatre.

The forthcoming concerts which are to be given at the Victoria Theatre next Saturday and Monday evenings, by the Mendelssohn Quintette Club, may be looked forward to as a great treat by lovers of good music rendered in an exceptional manner. They will be the most notable concerts given here for a long time, and the most sanguine expectations are certain not to be disappointed.

In all probability one of the largest and most select audiences ever assembled in the theatre will greet them at the initial concert Saturday evening.

The Boston Herald, in speaking of a concert of the Handel and Hayden Society, says:

"Miss Hamlin has not been heard prominently here since her return from her successful season in Europe, and the flexibility of this Boston artiste was again made most apparent. Her voice is essentially a dramatic one, and it proved well suited to both the works of the evening. Its quality is peculiarly musical, and the value of the studies made by the singer since she was last heard here was fully shown in the artistic results attending all her efforts. In the Verdi Mass her grand voice met the full demands of the score, and her singing gave genuine pleasure. Miss Hamlin shows excellent taste in all her work, and the faultless purity and reliability of her tones at all times is a source of rare satisfaction. Her abilities were fully appreciated, and she will be a welcome soloist in the future concert events here."

Cured by a Cow.

A fine colt belonging to Mr. Peter Lindsay, of Nixon, Ont., was badly bocked by a cow. Two bottles of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it. This invaluable remedy should be in every house. It cures cuts, sprains, bruises, burns and all pains and aches in man or beast.

Mr. McMicking of this city, the company's representative, has received the minister's decision, which upholds Inspector Young, and sets the amount of the penalty at $2983. The same must be paid before the 29th of March or the fire alarm apparatus will be forfeited to the customs.

INDECENT ASSAULTS.

Lindsay, March 13.—Several indecent assaults have been committed here lately on three little girls, one of the victims being the daughter of Mr. John A. Barron, M. P. for North Victoria. The assaults are said to have been committed by a married blacksmith named Raymond. Mr. Barron returned from Ottawa last night and drove Raymond from the town, belaboring him with his stick for several blocks.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

DANGEROUSLY HIGH WATER.

Memphis, March 12.—Reports from Helena and Little Rock say the levees cannot much longer stand the high water and the danger line is reached. The water is still rising and floods have knocked the railway at Paducah. Trains on the Iron Mountain & St. Louis, and Arkansas & Texas are abandoned. The Mobile & Ohio from there to St. Louis is crippled by a cave in, in a tunnel at Mountain Glen. A few more inches will certainly break the levees below and the damage will be frightful.

Pauline-Mesher.

Christ Church Cathedral was the scene of a large assemblage of young people last evening, the occasion being the celebration of the marriage ceremony of Mr. F. A. Pauline (of Piercy & Co.) and Miss Charlotte Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. Geo. Mesher, contractor. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Beanlands. The bride was beautifully arrayed in a costume of ivory white moire silk, with pearl trimmings, veil and orange blossoms and wore an elegant pair of ruby bracelets and brooch, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids, Misses Tillie, Alice and Lizzie Mesher, and the Misses Amy, Florence and Violet Pauline were dressed in pink crepe de lawn and each carried a beautiful boquet of flowers. The groom was assisted through the pleasing ordeal by Messrs. C. Braund, Arthur and Fred. Mesher, C. Gardiner, B. Pauline and T. B. Norgate. The bride was given away by her father. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the residence of the bride's father where a banquet was partaken of and the festivities kept up till the young couple went on board the Olympian for a bridal tour to the south. The following is a list of the many and costly presents to the bride, which show the high esteem in which she is held: Mr. F. Pauline, half-dozen oil paintings; Mr. G. LEET, DUMBLETON & CO.,
—Have for sale—
City Lots—One-Acre Lots—Cottages—Houses
And first-class Residences in the City of Victoria, and Farms and Ranches in different parts of the Province—on good terms.
As the failure of crops, and low prices in the Eastern Provinces means emigration westward and a consequent settlement of unoccupied territory and development generally—it is fair to assume that with the construction of Railways, now being commenced, and a speedy settlement of the country contiguous—the future of the Province is more than assured, and that values must harden. Those who purchase now will purchase at much lower figures than will obtain a year hence.
